My pleasure Gan.
 Correct.
 I figured we would work out the details in the field.

Paul:
 Firstly, I want to thank you for taking the time to visit with us, to address our concerns and for writing this email. It's heartening and most encouraging and it speaks well for your organization.

I would like to add that during our ground walk-through, we both have identified at least one tree that sits on my property but that will very likely be affected by the construction and development. And in our discussion, you have agreed on behalf of Quadrant Homes to remove it and even plant some replacement trees if needed.

I will appreciate if you can confirm this understanding. Thank you

Hi Gan, my apologies taking so long on getting back to you.

Thanks again for meeting at the site to discuss our common boundary. We share your concerns regarding trees and look forward to being a good neighbor and working with you.

Please accept this email as a recap to our discussions and Quadrant Homes' course of action moving forward.

Prior to tree removal on our property the boundary will be staked with a continuous ribbon. This will provide a clear indication where the trees are relative to the property line. A clearing fence will be installed on the boundary keeping clear of trees that are in question. At that time we will walk the site with you to verify trees that will remain and discuss your concerns.

In the event you have questions regarding trees saved along the boundary, an arborist hired by Quadrant Homes will offer their suggestion on the tree.

If there is anything else needed from me to address your immediate concerns, kindly let me know. I'll keep you posted when the boundary will be surveyed.

Thank you.
